CULTURAL RELEVANCE STRATEGY

We strive to understand how to respect Indigenous perspectives and accept the responsibility to embed cultural awareness into every aspect of our work

Recognizing our unconscious prejudices influence the cycle of development

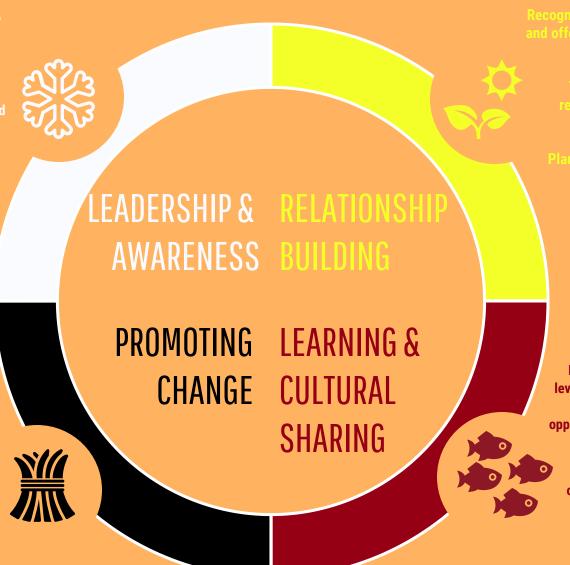

Whilst embracing humility and vulnerability, we are committing to walk alongside our Indigenous partners in their approach to create transformation of Nanaimo's health system.

Honouring the work that has taken place and preparing to continue the journey of awareness and improvement alongside our Indigenous partners

Acknowledging our spheres of influence in the health system to create opportunities for culturally relevant and equitable health care delivery.

Monitoring development and sharing knowledge to improve and develop sustainable strategies and planning

Reviewing the fruits of our labours by acknowledging our journey and bringing lessons learned and successes to the strategic table

Recognizing the value of relationality and offering time and space to create meaningful connections

Transforming conversations & relationships into programs and initiative

Planting the seeds for growth and improvement

Recognizing how colonial trauma has diversified our Indigenous communities, we will leverage traditional knowledge and partnerships to enhance opportunities that lie within learning and sharing two eyed seeing.

Creating partnerships and opportunities to learn about both worlds & share knowledge
